Running In Heels - TV SHOWBIZ

You won't need to have seen any previous episodes of Running In Heels to enjoy its shamefully addictive mix of high fashion, high hopes and high stress. Going behind the scenes of the New York office of Marie Claire magazine, it's Ugly Betty meets The Apprentice as the glamorous but pressured world of fashion journalism is given the full reality show treatment. The show closely follows MC's three ambitious new interns – Ashley, Talita and Samatha – as they live, breathe and barely sleep for the cause, aiming to prove to Editor In Chief, Joanna Coles, that they have what it takes to make it.

Now available on board...

Interactive Holy Quran

We are proud to introduce the In-Flight Integrated Encyclopedia of the Holy Quran – an e-learning application that enables passengers to read the Holy Quran and listen to its recitation.

Why you should be listening to...

Goldfrapp
AUDIO ON DEMAND

Influential UK electronic pop duo Goldfrapp have been blazing a trail for more than 10 years, changing from glam-rock to folk to chill-out, and spawning a host of imitators along the way. Now, for fifth album Head First, they have dived full length into 1980s shiny synth-pop. Granted, they aren't the first group to explore the era of legwarmers and shoulder-pads, but Goldfrapp are the masters of making irresistible pop music. Listen to Head First on board now.

Cop Out - MOVIES LATEST

Best known for directing indie slacker films such as Clerks and Mallrats, Kevin Smith takes a stab at a mainstream buddy comedy with Cop Out, starring Bruce Willis and Tracy Morgan. Willis, who probably has his own NYPD police badge after building his career on roles as disgruntled city cops, plays veteran detective Jimmy Monroe, who enlists his unpredictable partner (Morgan) to help him track down a stolen baseball card that he hoped would fund his daughter's wedding.
